Unclaimed Property Fast Facts

What is unclaimed property?

Virtually any intangible property not in the possession of its owner can be considered unclaimed property. Most unclaimed property is money that an owner has forgotten about, lost, or never even knew existed, that remains in the possession of a business for a period of time, usually five years. These funds become unclaimed because the company loses track of the consumer, due to an incorrect address or other missing information. Some examples of unclaimed property include dormant bank accounts, uncashed checks (including paychecks), unclaimed insurance proceeds, forgotten utility deposits, uncashed dividend checks, and unchanged shares of stock.

How much money is the State Treasurer's Office holding?

As of January 1, 2023, more than $850 million in unclaimed cash is being held for South Carolinians and South Carolina companies. In FY 2022, 63,136 accounts totaling more than $41.2 million was paid to rightful owners.

How does the State Treasurer's Office get the property?

If there has been no activity in an account for a set period of time, usually five years, the unclaimed funds are remitted to the State Treasurer's Office in the owner's name and held until the funds are claimed.

How do I check to see if I have unclaimed property?

Visit the State Treasurer's website at treasurer.sc.gov, and click to search for Unclaimed Property. Enter your name in the search field and the database will indicate whether you have accounts associated with your name. If your name is listed, it's easy to start the claims process online.

How long do I have to claim the money?

There is no time limit. The rightful owner, or the rightful owner's heirs, always have the right to claim the funds.

How long will it take for me to get my money?

It varies based on the complexity of the claim and the thoroughness of the claim documentation provided. However, in many cases, the claim may be processed within just a few weeks.
